

The Tunis Stock Exchange: First Tunisian company certified ISO 22301

The Tunis Stock Exchange is proud to announce that it has obtained ISO 22301:2019 certification, the international reference standard for business continuity management.

This achievement makes the Tunis Stock Exchange the first awarded Tunisian company such certification, testifying to its ongoing commitment to operational excellence and effective risk management.

Moreover, this certification demonstrates the Tunis Stock Exchange's ability to identify, analyze, assess and address potential risks that could disrupt its critical activities. It also highlights the implementation of a robust and effective business continuity management, enabling the Tunis Stock Exchange to maintain its essential operations in the event of a major incident.

This international award is in line with the efforts made by the Tunis Stock Exchange to strengthen its corporate governance and adopt international best practices in risk management and business continuity.

Also, Bourse de Tunis announces the renewal of its ISO 27001 certification for information security management, and ISO 20000-1 certification for service management. These certifications further attest to the continued commitment to maintaining compliance with the highest and globally recognized standards.

With this triple certification, Tunis Stock Exchange confirms its commitment to maintaining the highest levels of resiliency, operational excellence and service quality for its domestic and foreign partners and customers.
